Château Bellevue

SAINT-EMILION GRAND CRU CLASSÉ

2024

Revue de presse
Press review

All Merlot that saw a touch of stems and aging in 30% new barrels, 20% in new foudre, and the balance in once-used barrels, the 2024 Château Bellevue reveals ripe darker berries, juicy cassis, graphite, and floral notes. It's a ripe, round, layered Saint-Émilion that has sweet tannins, a plump mouthfeel, and outstanding length.

Red berry aromas on the nose, fragrant and lively. This has a filling texture, softly chewy tannins give a round mouthfeel with a soft plushness and some minty, liquorice and herbal touches. It's quite straight, touching on austere in terms of texture although the acidity is well balanced by the ripe fruit and concentration. Quite a sexy wine, with chalky tannins and some salty, minerality on the finish. The density and overall weight belies the vintage conditions, this is not weak at all. A touch of sweetness too adds complexity but ends austere and mineral with the limestone terroir in the glass. This is excellent. Good potential. Ageing 20% new foudre, 30% new oak, rest one year barrels. 3.54pH.
